MAKE SAFER SPACES

WHAT IS HARASSMENT?

Harassment is any conduct that may be questionable, unwelcome, and have a negative effect in the work environment. It can be verbal or physical, and it can happen in person or through writing, by telephone, through social media or other forms of communication. It can happen anywhere in the workplace, whether in offices, affiliated establishments, during work travel, at formal events or even during your free time. For example:

- Derogatory terms or racial insults
- Stereotyping and discrimination
- Sexual insinuations
- Sexually explicit or graphic material
- Inappropriate jokes
- Degrading or abusive behavior (ridiculing, defaming, verbal abuse, work sabotage, etc.)

WHAT IS WORKPLACE VIOLENCE?

Workplace violence is any act that puts employees, affiliate persons or property in physical danger, causes harm or threatens to cause harm. These violent, intimidating and/or threatening actions or potentially violent situations also go against a safe and respectful work environment. For example:

- Direct or indirect threats
- Intimidating or aggressive behavior
- Inappropriate or aggressive confrontations
- Bringing a non-authorized weapon to work, making inappropriate references about weapons
- Speaking about the use of violence with excitement or approval

HOW CAN I REPORT HARASSMENT OR VIOLENCE?

Communicate to the person responsible for the behavior, either through an intermediary or directly, that the conduct is unwelcome and that they must stop. If you don’t feel comfortable approaching them, or if they do not correct their behavior, contact:

- The person’s supervisor, mentor, or sponsor;
- Your own supervisor, mentor, or sponsor;
- Any Smithsonian supervisor or management official;
- Any of the SI Civil resource contacts located at various STRI facilities, field locations, departments and offices;
- Anyone in the STRI Office of Human Resources;
- The SI Civil Program Coordinator (jonesam@si.edu)

You can also access:

- The Employment Assistance Program (EAP), which offers confidential guidance and counseling on any topic;
- OMBUDS, to access confidential guidance and counselling on workplace issues;
- The Smithsonian encourages all employees and affiliates to report incidents of harassment or violence, whether they are a victim or a witness.

In the case of violent acts or emergencies in the workplace, your safety is paramount. Make sure you are in a safe place and call emergencies, the Office of Protection Services (OPS) or the security office. Do not intervene physically or try to handle the situation yourself, except as a last resort.
